Funding Opportunities beyond CTAS

According to a recent GAO report that analyzed DOJ and HHS funding that could be used to support programs for tribal youth, 18% identify Native Americans as a primary beneficiary.

Training and Technical Assistance

- Training and technical assistance (TTA) is the planning, development, delivery, and evaluation of activities designed to achieve specific learning objectives, resolve problems, and foster the application of innovative approaches to juvenile delinquency and victimization.
- Many of the TTA providers funded by OJJDP are for specific grant funded programs. Others are available to the broader field regardless of whether OJJDP has funded your program.

Tribal Youth Resource Center

What we do:

- Support OJJDP Tribal Youth Program (TYP) and Juvenile Healing to Wellness Court (JHWC) grantees and federally recognized tribes with planning and programmatic development.
- Provide culturally appropriate training and technical assistance.
- Support training related to trauma-informed care, prevention, intervention, and restorative approaches.
- Coordinate supportive resources including national, regional, local, and onsite training.

Native youth benefit from a value held by Native peoples:
Our Children are Sacred.
