

Top 6 Reasons People Attend Conferences

1. To network
2. To expand your knowledge and find solutions to problems
3. To present your ideas and work to others
4. For people to meet you
5. Learn beyond your field or interest
6. Sometimes a few hours of training is not enough!

That's why NCJTC offers several national conferences that bring together hundreds of criminal justice professionals to network, share lessons learned, new strategies, best practices and so much more.

New Conferences Announced at NCJTC

New in 2022! Putting Survivors First in Corrections Virtual Conference is a new conference being held virtually October 5-20. Many survivors do not feel heard or that the process focuses appropriately on their needs and repairing the harm they have experienced. Survivors can often feel re-victimized by the current processes and their confidence in the criminal legal system is low, leaving them dissatisfied with the outcomes. This virtual survivor-centered conference for corrections professionals is critical to enhancing survivor-centered approaches while meeting responsibilities to the community and criminal legal system clients. New in 2023! Another brand new conference is the National Internet of Things (IoT) Investigative Conference, Jan 10-12, 2023 in Orlando, Florida. IoT Devices are always watching, listening and sensing. They are an important consideration at any crime scene. The logs and other data created by them can help place a subject at the scene or elsewhere, establish the time of the crime, and corroborate or impeach a subject's statements. Our first conference will bring together hundreds of law enforcement professionals and industry leaders to explore emerging Internet of Things (IoT) technologies, discover investigative methods and consider how navigating the landscape of the IoT can help solve crimes and make communities safer. Popular NCJTC Conferences Are Back in 2023!

The Court Safety and Security Conference, focuses on the specialized security needs of courthouses and the vulnerability to threats of violence. Participants will learn effective strategies and best practices to enhance a collaborative courthouse security philosophy. This conference brings together current state and federal court services experts to cover topics like security planning, jury and witness safety considerations, and threat assessment and management. During past conferences, we have highlighted high profile court cases that posed particular challenges to keeping their courthouses safe. The conference will be held March 15-17, 2023 in Appleton, Wisconsin. Learn more

The National Missing and Unidentified Persons Conference is back again May 9-11, 2023 in Orlando, FL. After a highly attended conference in 2022, we will be back to focus on identifying innovative and effective technologies, approaches and strategies in the search, investigation, identification, recovery, and reunification of missing persons, regardless of the circumstances surrounding their disappearance. Participants gain valuable knowledge and proficiency in evidence-based, state-of-the-art, and collaborative solutions, and explore tools and techniques from the initial response through recovery and resolution, vital to the missing and their families. School Resource Officer Training Conference will be back in June 2023 to focus on continued strategies to address school violence and youth victimization concerns through the use of crime prevention and response strategies and lessons learned from relevant case studies. Hundreds of school resource officers attend each year to explore the most current trends among youth related to social media and alcohol and substance abuse, as well as effective strategies for working with students experiencing mental illness and learning disabilities. More information coming soon on the 2023 conference. To receive emails about this event, sign up here.

One of our longest running conferences is the Law Enforcement Administrative Professionals Conference, which brings together law enforcement administrative professionals. The conference focuses on relevant topics related to improving communication, enhancing skills, and fostering community outreach. It is the only conference specifically designed for and by administrative professionals, where excellent networking opportunities and education meet. Our 2023 conference will be held June 21-23. 50th Edition of AMBER Advocate

The AMBER Advocate celebrates the 50th issue of the newsletter! For more than 15 years, the AMBER Advocate Training and Technical Assistance Program has been honored to share stories from AMBER Alert programs across the nation and internationally!

Issue 50 features an in-depth interview with Program Administrator Janell Rasmussen, as she reflects on her first full year in the position, and her vision going forward based on her time with AATTAP and her decades of work with AMBER Alert and child protection. We also bring you a recap of the 2022 National AMBER Alert Virtual Symposium, and an amazing multi-state success story based on the unified efforts and swift responses of Tennessee, Arizona and California. Through our 'briefs' section, read about AMBER Alert and other endangered missing persons work underway across the U.S. and internationally.
